ONCE I DECIDE TO RUN, WHAT'S NEXT?

SPEAK to your chapter | your brother chapter (if applicable)

SPEAK to your Chapter Sponsor

SPEAK to the current person in office & advisors with interest

Once approved from them, then start the announcements. Announcements are integral for running for office for getting your name out to the District

ANNOUNCEMENTS | GETTING YOU OUT TO THE DISTRICT

Your Home Chapter

Of course, with the permission from your sponsor, your Chapter is your support system. Announcing to your chapter your intent to run for District Office is essential from the beginning.

Your Brother Chapter (if Applicable)

With your Chapter, if applicable, an announcement at a joint meeting, allows an opportunity to share your intent for District Office, collect ideas, and be able to start a collection of letters of recommendation because everyone is on the same page.

District Leadership Conference | DLC

Typically, future candidates figure out if they want to run at this District Event. However, if you already were planning, announce your intent to run for office because then the District gets a chance to recognize you and get your name out when elections occur.

Your State(s) Days

Once decided, the next step is to announce your running for Office within your State. This is another opportunity to have your name out to the District if you're not as District savvy with attending District Events or brothers or sisters outside of your Chapter.

Other State Days

If you're lucky, you have an opportunity to attend a State Days outside your State, this is another opportunity to get your name out to the District and meet new brothers and sisters outside of your Chapter. This is encouraged for all future District Officers to do.

Western District Convention | WDC

Now this is the final round to get your name known before you start with speeches and Committee Interviews. This is your opportunity to meet with brothers and sisters of the District. If you haven't done so at previous District Events, you better reach out at this event.

WHAT HAPPENS TO ME DURING WESTERN DISTRICT CONVENTION?

COVER LETTER EXAMPLE

Dear Sisters of the West, | Sisters of the West

Often times, this is the paragraph where you introduce yourself briefly in a sentence or two paired with being the candidate for District Office of the year you're running. Then either explain your story about how you started with TBS, what you learned as an active sister, or comment on something insightful that occurred with you to decide for office. Essentially, this is your hook to get sisters to read this and convince them why this is the reason why you're running. Remember: this is the first thing they read and get an idea if you are "fit" to be a candidate for District Office.

The next paragraph or two begins explanation for why you're a qualified candidate. Just like any cover letter, briefly discuss why you're a worthy candidate for the office you're running. This includes: listing chapter office experiences, program development, service organization, and goals for District Office. With these listed, explain briefly, a sentence or two, why these experiences were essential or ideal to build your qualifications, just like any real-world job cover letter includes. In this case, this is directed towards the office you're running and TBS.

In the final paragraph, always include a thank you for the opportunity to serve for Tau Beta Sigma. Some include Best in the West or some salutation to District Pride. (All depends on you.)

RESUME

Remember to list in order of what you think is the most important points as a district office candidate.
